Questions 1–10

- 1 The correct answer is 'litter': The man says that one of the regular activities is 'trying to keep the beach free of litter'. 'Any litter' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 2 The correct answer is 'dogs': The woman asks if people can take dogs and the man replies, 'I'm afraid not'. 'Litter' is incorrect as the beach does have litter on it. 'Children' is incorrect as the man says, 'children are welcome'.
- 3 The correct answer is 'insects': The man says that they are 'going to work on encouraging insects'. 'Birds' is incorrect as this activity has been completed (and is already written on the question paper on previous line).
- 4 The correct answer is 'butterflies': The man says that there is 'a project to identify ... butterflies'. 'Species of butterflies' and 'butterfly species' are incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only. 'Moths' is incorrect as the man does not refer to identifying moths at the nature reserve.
- 5 The correct answer is 'wall': The man says that they are 'replacing the wall on the southern side'. 'Woodshed' is incorrect as the man explains that the wall will be built 'between the parking area and our woodshed'.
- 6 The correct answer is 'island': The man says that on Saturday, 'the sands are dry enough ... to walk to the island'. 'Ruston Island' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 7 The correct answer is 'boots': The man tells the woman to make sure her 'boots are waterproof'. 'Pair' is incorrect as you cannot wear a pair. 'Pair of boots' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 8 The correct answer is 'beginners': The woman asks, 'Is it OK for beginners to take part?' The man replies, 'Definitely'. 'Experts' is incorrect as the man says that they will run the session: 'There'll be a couple of experts leading the session.'
- 9 The correct answer is 'spoons': The man says that they will 'be starting with wooden spoons'. 'Chairs' is incorrect as the man says that making chairs is 'too ambitious for one day'. 'Tools' is incorrect as the man says that they will 'use the tools', not make them.
- 10 The correct answer is '35' or 'thirty-five': The man says, 'There's a charge of £35'. '40' or 'forty' is incorrect as this includes the cost of camping: '£40 if you want to camp'.

Part 2

Questions 11–20

11 The correct answer is A: The speaker says that 'if there are more than nine people on either side of the boat ... all eighteen of us will end up in the sea'.

B is incorrect as this is the number of tourists the boat can hold: 'We already have three staff members on board and ... we can transport a further fifteen people'.

C is incorrect as this is the total number of people on the boat.

12 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that the boats have a 'light-green exterior'.

A is incorrect as the boat has 'dark red seats'.

B is incorrect as the speaker says that the boats 'used to be jet black'.

13 The correct answer is B: The speaker says that 'Lunchbox 2 contains a cheddar cheese roll'.

A is incorrect as Lunchbox 1 contains 'ham', which is meat.

C is incorrect as Lunchbox 3 contains 'tuna', which is fish.

14 The correct answer is B: The speaker says, 'Jess, myself or Ray (the staff) ... will collect it (the litter) from you after lunch'.

A is incorrect as the speaker does not mention taking litter home.

C is incorrect as the speaker says that they 'don't have any bins' on the boat.

15 and 16 The correct answers are A and D (in either order): The speaker says that the lighthouse was built 'to protect sailors' and that the 'workers were mainly prison convicts'.

B, C and E are incorrect as the speaker does not mention who built the lighthouse, how long it took to build or what it was built with.

17 and 18 The correct answers are B and C (in either order): The speaker says that the fur seals are 'inquisitive creatures' that might pop up 'right in front of you'. The speaker says that dolphins may 'approach [the boat] ... as they ride the waves beside us'.

A is incorrect as the speaker says that birds such as sea eagles might be seen 'in the distance'.

D is incorrect as the speaker says that orca whales 'hunt along the coastline'.

E is incorrect as the speaker says that penguins are 'shy' and 'tend to hide from passing boats'.

19 and 20 The correct answers are D and E (in either order): The speaker says that the caves 'can only be approached by sea'. The speaker says that when they see the openings to the caves, the staff will 'talk ... about what lies beyond (inside the caves)'.

A is incorrect as the speaker says that it is possible to 'take a kayak (a small boat) into the area'.

B is incorrect as the speaker says that they will 'see the openings to the caves'.

C is incorrect as the speaker does not mention danger.

Part 3

Questions 21–30

- 21 The correct answer is A: Diana says that 'finding the right sort of farm to apply to wasn't easy'. Tim agrees, adding that 'they (the farms) don't seem to have websites'.
- B is incorrect as only Tim had transport problems; Diana says that she stayed 'on the farm'.
- C is incorrect as only Tim mentions the length of the placement.
- 22 The correct answer is B: Tim says that he helped 'a sheep deliver a lamb' and that it 'wasn't a straightforward birth'.
- A is incorrect as Tim did not help the lamb with a broken leg.
- C is incorrect as Tim says that the lamb '[started] feeding almost straightaway'.
- 23 The correct answer is B: Tim asks Diana if the sheep on her farm were 'bred for their meat', and Diana replies, 'Mostly, yes'.
- A is incorrect as Diana says that the sheep were 'a lowland breed called Suffolks'. She says that the farm had had 'other breeds in the past'.
- C is incorrect as Diana does not say anything about her sheep's wool.
- 24 The correct answer is A: Diana says that her farmer only added supplements to chicken feed 'when the chickens seemed to particularly require them'. Tim says that his farmer 'said the same'.
- B is incorrect as Tim says, 'the cheap and expensive ones are all basically the same'.
- C is incorrect as neither student says anything about the amounts of supplement given at any one time.
- 25 The correct answer is C: Diana says that she 'got mixed up' and that she 'poured some milk from the wrong cow in with the milk for humans'. A and B are incorrect as she was not asked to identify cows and she did not throw any milk away.
- 26 The correct answer is C: Tim quotes his farmer saying that 'some of the stuff the vets do, ... he'd be quite capable of doing himself'. Diana says, 'Yeah. My farmer said the same'.
- A and B are incorrect as the students do not mention failures by vets or the need to change veterinary training.

- 27 The correct answer is A: Tim says, 'I'd thought it'd be hard, but actually I found it (medical terminology) all quite straightforward.' C is incorrect. Although Diana says that she struggled with it, she does not mention doing any further study on it.
- 28 The correct answer is E: Tim explains what he learned about the checks on pet food and describes these as 'terrible' in comparison with the checks on human food. F is incorrect as Diana says nothing about pet food.
- 29 The correct answer is F: Diana says that 'scientists don't know much about the diseases that affect them (domesticated animals)'. Tim agrees: 'Yes, I thought they'd know a lot about ways of controlling and eradicating those diseases, but that's not the case at all.' E is incorrect as Tim does not express shock.
- 30 The correct answer is C: Diana says, 'I might write my dissertation on something connected with that (wildlife medication)'. B is incorrect as Tim does not mention the organisation of the module.

Part 4

Questions 31–40

- 31 The correct answer is 'puzzle': The speaker says, 'A maze ... is a kind of puzzle'. 'Labyrinth' is incorrect as the speaker compares a labyrinth and a maze and says, 'A maze is quite different'.
- 'Network of paths' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 'Network' is incorrect as it does not make sense in the gap.
- 32 The correct answer is 'logic': The speaker says that you need 'logic to work out the pattern' inside a maze. 'Pattern' is incorrect as this is not something that you need to navigate a maze; it is a feature of a maze.
- 33 The correct answer is 'confusion': The speaker says, 'The word "maze" is believed to come from a Scandinavian word for a state of confusion'. 'Amazing' is incorrect as the speaker says this word 'comes from' the word maze.
- 34 The correct answer is 'meditation': The speaker says that labyrinths 'have been used as a meditation and prayer tool'. 'Spiritual' is incorrect as a noun is needed in the gap.
- 35 The correct answer is 'stone': The speaker says, 'The earliest examples of the labyrinth spiral pattern have been found carved into stone'. 'Bronze' is incorrect as the speaker refers to the 'Bronze Age' – the period during which the earliest stone carvings were made in Europe.
- 36 The correct answer is 'coins': The speaker says, 'In Ancient Greece, the labyrinth spiral was used on coins'. 'Mosaics' is incorrect as the speaker says that labyrinths were 'made of mosaics' in places 'throughout the Roman Empire'.
- 37 The correct answer is 'tree': The speaker says that 'the largest [turf labyrinth] ... used to have a large tree in the middle (centre) of it'. 'Pattern' is incorrect as the whole labyrinth was 'cut into the turf ... in a circular pattern'.
- 38 The correct answer is 'breathing': The speaker says that some people believe the benefits of 'walking a labyrinth ... include slower breathing'. 'Balance' and 'perspective' are incorrect as they cannot be used in a noun phrase with the word 'rate'.
- 39 The correct answer is 'paper': The speaker says, 'In some hospitals, patients who can't walk can have a paper "finger labyrinth" brought to their bed.' 'Doctors' is incorrect as the word 'from' comes before the gap, so a type of material is needed as an answer.
- 40 The correct answer is 'anxiety': The speaker says that 'one study found that walking a labyrinth provided ... relief from anxiety for Alzheimer's patients'. 'Relaxation' and 'relief' are incorrect as the word 'less' comes before the gap.

Reading

Reading Passage 1

Questions 1–13

- 1 The correct answer is 'population': The text says that 'London's population grew at an astonishing rate (increased rapidly)' and that this happened 'in the first half of the 1800s' – that is, between 1800 and 1850. 'Area' is incorrect as the text doesn't say that the area of the city increased rapidly.
- 2 The correct answer is 'suburbs': The text says, '[Pearson's] idea was to relocate the poor workers who lived in the inner-city slums to newly constructed suburbs'. 'Slums' is incorrect as this refers to the poor housing that the workers lived in, not to the area they were relocated to.
- 3 The correct answer is 'businessmen': The text says that 'Pearson's ideas gained support amongst some businessmen', meaning that the businessmen agreed with his ideas. 'Workers' is incorrect as the text only refers to 'poor workers' and doesn't say that they were aware of Pearson's ideas.
- 4 The correct answer is 'funding': The text says, 'The organisation (the Metropolitan Railway Company) had difficulty (problems) in raising the funding for such a radical and expensive scheme'.
- 5 The correct answer is 'press': The text says that 'critical (negative) articles [were] printed by the press' describing objections to the tunnel.
- 6 The correct answer is 'soil': The text describes how the tunnel was built and says, 'A two-metre-deep layer of soil was laid on top of the tunnel'. 'Beams' is incorrect as these were at the sides of the tunnel, not on top of it.

- 7 The correct answer is FALSE: The text says that the Metropolitan Line 'was the world's first underground railway'. This means that no other countries had built underground railways before the Metropolitan Line opened.
- 8 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text tells us that 'almost 40,000' (a lot of) people travelled on the Metropolitan Line on its first day, but doesn't refer to any predictions about how many people were expected to travel on that day.
- 9 The correct answer is TRUE: The text says that although the locomotives which were used to pull the trains were 'specially designed', and the tunnels where the locomotives ran had 'ventilation shafts', 'smoke and fumes remained (were still) a problem', meaning that the locomotives produced pollution which remained in the tunnels instead of escaping through the ventilation shafts.
- 10 The correct answer is TRUE: In the fourth paragraph, the text explains that the 'cut and cover' technique was used to dig tunnels just below street level. In the seventh paragraph, the text says that this method of construction 'was not an option in this part of the capital'. This means that they could not dig tunnels just below street level; instead, they had to dig 'deep underground'.
- 11 The correct answer is FALSE: The text says that the City & South London trains 'had tiny windows just below the roof'. This suggests that the windows are high up, and the text then says that 'it was thought that passengers would not want to look out'. This tells us that the windows were too high to see out of.
- 12 The correct answer is FALSE: The text says that the City & South London Railway 'did not make a profit'. It was a technical rather than a financial success.
- 13 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text says that the 'Tuppenny Tube' was 'very popular' but does not give any information about whether the trains ran on time or not.

Questions 14–26

- 14 The correct answer is A: This section mentions a 'growing scepticism' towards the construction (building) of stadiums.
- 15 The correct answer is F: The second paragraph in this section gives figures for the equipment used at Kaohsiung Stadium for energy production ('8,844 photovoltaic panels'), the amount of energy produced ('1.14 GWh of electricity'), the reduction in CO₂ output ('by 660 tons') and the percentage ('up to 80 percent') of the surrounding area that is supplied with electricity.
- 16 The correct answer is E: This section mentions a wide range of public spaces and services 'such as hotels, retail outlets, conference centres, restaurants and bars, children's playgrounds and green space'.
- 17 The correct answer is D: When describing the development of stadiums in the early twentieth century, this section identifies several disadvantages – lack of accessibility, energy requirements and contribution to urban (city) heat.
- 18 The correct answer is 'fortress': In Section B, the text says that the amphitheatre of Arles was 'built by the Romans in 90 AD', and 'became a fortress with four towers after the fifth century'. 'Village' and 'arena' are both incorrect as these were later conversions.
- 19 The correct answer is 'bullfights': In Section B, the text says, 'during the 19th century, it was converted back into an arena for the staging of bullfights'. This is the last use mentioned of the Arles amphitheatre and is the only event where we are told what spectators (the public) at Arles could watch.
- 20 The correct answer is 'opera': In Section B, the text says that the arena at Verona 'is currently considered one of the world's prime sites for opera'.
- 21 The correct answer is 'salt': In Section C, the text says that the site of Lucca's amphitheatre, the Piazza dell'Anfiteatro, was used as a 'salt depot' (a place for storing salt).
- 22 The correct answer is 'shops': The amphitheatre 'became a market square' with 'shops and residences (homes)' built in the ruins (remains) of the amphitheatre.

23 and 24 The correct answers are C and D (in either order):

C is correct because when discussing stadiums developed in the twentieth century, the text says that their location and design 'mean that they may not be as accessible to the general public', meaning that they cannot be easily reached, making their location less convenient.

D is correct because the text says that with these twentieth-century stadiums, 'some of the flexibility [of ancient amphitheatres] was lost', meaning that they were less versatile and could not be used for so many different purposes.

A is incorrect: The text does not discuss how imaginative the design of the modern stadiums is. Although the materials used in construction and the use of lighting are described, there is nothing to suggest that this is imaginative.

B is incorrect: The text says that the new stadiums are 'in suburban areas ... surrounded by parking lots,' which suggests there is less space around the stadiums but not that the stadiums themselves are less spacious than the ancient amphitheatres.

E is incorrect: The text mentions new building materials such as steel and reinforced concrete but does not say that these were less durable than previous materials.

25 and 26 The correct answers are B and E (in either order):

B is correct because the writer says that while in the twentieth century, stadiums were built in inaccessible places in the suburbs, more recently the development of the stadium 'as an urban hob' has reinforced 'compactness and multi-functionality ... This opens the space up to families and a wider cross-section of society'. These stadiums therefore encourage a sense of community which was not supported by twentieth-century stadiums.

E is correct because the text says that the canopies of stadiums 'have a large surface area for fitting photovoltaic panels and rise high enough (more than 40 metres) to make use of micro wind turbines'. Photovoltaic panels and micro wind turbines are both examples of devices which can generate (produce) renewable power.

A is incorrect: The descriptions of modern stadiums focus on their multi-functionality rather than on what they offer for watching sports events.

C is incorrect: While solar and wind energy are mentioned, the text does not refer to research being carried out in these areas.

D is incorrect: The text refers to an electricity supply network which can 'detect and react to local changes in usage, without ... energy losses', but does not mention reduction in energy consumption.

Questions 27–40

- 27 The correct answer is H: In the first paragraph, the text says that the young Charles II 'did a deal with the Scots', meaning that he formed an alliance with them for strategic reasons – to further his own plans.
- 28 The correct answer is J: The text says that Charles II sacrificed 'one of the very principles his father had died for' by 'accepting Presbyterianism as the national religion'. In doing this, he abandoned an important religious conviction that had contributed to his father's death.
- 29 The correct answer is F: The text explains that 'The two sides (the Scots led by Charles II and the English Parliamentary army) finally faced one another at Worcester in the west of England in 1651' where 'the 21-year-old king' (Charles II) was 'comprehensively defeated'. This was therefore a decisive victory for the Parliamentarians.
- 30 The correct answer is B: The text says that there was 'a national manhunt' for Charles II and that 'a huge sum [of money was] offered for his capture'.
- 31 The correct answer is D: The text says that Charles II escaped, 'seeking refuge in France'. The word 'refuge' tells us that this was a relatively safe place for him.
- 32 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The second paragraph of the text says that Charles asked Pepys 'to commit his story (the story of his escape from the Parliamentarians) to paper ... to ensure that this most extraordinary episode [was] never forgotten'. The focus here is on why the king wanted his story told; the text does not say why he chose Pepys to do it.
- 33 The correct answer is NO: The text says, 'the king related to him (Pepys) in great detail his personal recollections of the six weeks he had spent as a fugitive'. This means that the king provided a lot of details about his escape.
- 34 The correct answer is NO: The text quotes the words of Charles II, who said, 'After the battle was so absolutely lost as to be beyond hope of recovery, I began to think of the best way of saving myself.' The plan was therefore made after the battle, not before it.
- 35 The correct answer is YES: The text refers to 'One of the joys of Spencer's book' and says that this is 'a result not least of its use of Charles II's own narrative', meaning that the use of the king's story is a positive aspect of the book.

36 The correct answer is B: The first paragraph begins by mentioning the defeat of Charles II at the battle of Worcester and then describes the events of the previous two years that led up to the battle, the result of the battle and Charles's actions in the following six weeks before his eventual escape.

A is incorrect as although the reviewer mentions when and where the Battle of Worcester took place and the result of the battle, she does not describe in any detail what happened during the battle itself.

C is incorrect as no information is given in the paragraph of the Parliamentarians' political views. We are only told that they were afraid of the possibility of a Scottish invasion.

D is incorrect as although a contrast is suggested between the religious beliefs of Charles II's father and the acceptance of Presbyterianism by Charles II, the text does not explain how these beliefs were different and this is not therefore the main purpose of this paragraph.

37 The correct answer is C: The reviewer says that the 'day-by-day retelling of the fugitives' doings provides delicious details'. Examples such as the cutting of Charles's hair, dyeing his skin, his use of an oak tree as a hiding place and the refusal of his friend to adopt a disguise are given to illustrate 'just how close the reader gets to the action'.

A is incorrect as none of these details are used to indicate that Charles was close to losing his life.

B is incorrect as although Charles's supporters took action to disguise him in slightly unusual ways (e.g., by using agricultural shears to cut his hair), there is nothing to suggest that they should have been better prepared.

D is incorrect as the day-to-day details given in this paragraph are included because they are likely to be interesting to the reader, not because they are particularly significant or should be better known.

38 The correct answer is A: At the beginning of the fourth paragraph, the reviewer refers to the 'uncomfortable truth' that the people of England had not supported Charles when he arrived with the Scots army, but 'had instead firmly bolted their doors'. She suggests that it is surprising that Charles II 'loved the story so much' and made such efforts for it to be remembered. At the end of the paragraph, the reviewer says that the story (of the defeat in battle and the subsequent need to escape) was 'the lowest point in [his] life'.

B is incorrect as the paragraph only tells us about why the general population of England did not initially support the king; there is nothing in the paragraph about Charles misunderstanding the motivation of the Parliamentarians who fought against him.

C is incorrect as this paragraph describes only how Charles aimed to celebrate the memory of his escape, and there is nothing to support the idea that he did this for any more general reason such as to restore faith in the monarchy.

D is incorrect as we are not told why Charles was so keen to tell the story of his escape or to have it remembered.

39 The correct answer is B: The reviewer says that Charles Spencer (the author of the book being reviewed) has 'even-handed (equal) sympathy for both the fugitive king and the fierce republican regime that hunted him'.

A is incorrect: The reviewer says that there have been 'previous books on the subject' but does not express the view that his decision to write the book is surprising.

C is incorrect: The reviewer says that Spencer 'elegantly brings to life the details of the great tale' and explores 'far more of the background of the story than previous books have done' which are both positive comments about the amount of detail included.

D is incorrect: The reviewer says that Spencer 'steers deftly clear of modern idioms', suggesting that he uses language that is appropriate for the historical subject matter and not necessarily more suitable for a twenty-first-century audience than for an older audience.

40 The correct answer is D: The reviewer identifies the area where the book 'doesn't quite hit the mark' with unanswered questions about how far and in what ways Charles II's experiences during his escape affected him later in life.

A is incorrect as it is the impact of the events on Charles that is being discussed, not the impact on ordinary people.

B is incorrect as although the paragraph gives the writer's and reviewer's views of Charles in later life, there is no discussion of prevalent views [views held by people at that time] of him as a monarch.

C is incorrect as the reviewer does not tell us here whether or not the book describes Charles II's 'trickery and subterfuge' when in hiding, although the review as a whole suggests that the writer did include these details.

Test 2 answer key with extra explanations

Listening

Part 1

Questions 1–10

- 1 The correct answer is 'collecting': The woman says that 'one thing [the man] could do is get involved in collecting them (books)'. 'Borrow' and 'donate' are incorrect as she does not ask for help with these activities, and the verbs are not in the correct form.
- 2 The correct answer is 'records': The woman says, 'It would be very useful to have another person to help keep them (records) up to date'. 'Library' is incorrect as the woman does not mention the age of the books in the library.
- 3 The correct answer is 'West': The man asks, 'Is the library purpose-built?' The woman replies that they 'have the use of ... the West Room'. 'Left' is incorrect as the woman uses this word to direct the man to the West Room: 'It's on the left as you go in.'
- 4 The correct answer is 'transport': The man says, 'I could help with transport' and the woman replies, 'definitely ... we're always in need of more drivers'. 'Drivers' is incorrect as the man is not going to provide these.
- 5 The correct answer is 'art': The man says, 'I could get involved in one or two (hobbies), particularly if there are any art groups'. The woman replies, 'Excellent.' 'Groups' is incorrect as they are not a type of hobby.
- 6 The correct answer is 'hospital': The woman tells the man that Mrs Carroll 'needs a lift to the hospital'. The man replies, 'I could do that.'
- 'The hospital' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 'Appointment' is incorrect as a place is needed in the gap.
- 7 The correct answer is 'garden': The woman says, 'if you could do some weeding in his (Mr Selsbury's) garden, that would be wonderful'. The man replies, 'OK. I'd enjoy that.'
- 'Kitchen' is incorrect as the woman says, 'We've got some people to decorate his kitchen'.
- 8 The correct answer is 'quiz': The woman says, 'on the 19th of October, we're holding a quiz'. 'Residents' is incorrect as a type of event is needed in the gap.
- 9 The correct answer is 'tickets': The woman says, 'having an extra person to check them (tickets) at the door ... would be good'. 'Band' and 'music' are incorrect as the woman does not ask the man to check these.
- 10 The correct answer is 'poster': The woman says, 'The one thing we haven't got yet is a poster', and the man offers to design it: 'Before I retired I was a graphic designer, so that's right up my street.' 'Draft' is incorrect as this answer does not give enough information.

Part 2

Questions 11–20

- 11 The correct answer is B: The speaker says, 'Almost all of them (the past owners) have left their mark, generally by adding new rooms ... or by demolishing others.'
- A is incorrect as only the 'current owner' has worked on the 'flower beds'.
- C is incorrect as the speaker says, 'The farm looks much as it's always done'.
- 12 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that Sir Edward Downes 'hosted meetings of creative and literary people, like painters and poets'.
- A is incorrect as the speaker says that he wanted to 'escape from the world of politics'.
- B is incorrect as although Sir Edward Downes is described as 'very wealthy', the speaker does not mention him wishing to display his wealth. The speaker says that 'he didn't care whether his guests were rich or poor'.
- 13 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that visitors will see 'volunteers dressed up as nineteenth-century servants' and that they will 'explain what they're doing'.
- A is incorrect as the speaker says that the audio guide has been replaced: 'We've just introduced this feature to replace the audio guide'.
- B is incorrect as the speaker says, 'Photographs ... don't give much of an idea (about the work of servants)'.
- 14 The correct answer is B: The speaker says that 'child-sized (mini) tractors' are the 'latest addition (to the house)'. A and C are incorrect as the speaker does not say that these are new.
- 15 The correct answer is D: The speaker says that the dairy is 'now the place to go for lunch, or afternoon tea, or just a cup of coffee and a slice of homemade cake'. B is incorrect as the speaker says that the dairy 'was where milk from the cows was turned into cheese'.
- 16 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that the large barn contains a 'collection of agricultural tools', which were 'used in the past'. H is incorrect as the tools are not used today.
- 17 The correct answer is G: The speaker says that children can 'groom (brush) the donkeys and horses' in the small barn. F is incorrect as the speaker does not mention rare (unusual) breeds of animals.
- 18 The correct answer is A: The speaker says that you can 'buy gifts, books, our own jams and pickles, and clothes and blankets' in the stables. F and G are incorrect as the speaker says, 'horses no longer live in the stables'.
- 19 The correct answer is E: The speaker says, 'Outside the shed ... you can climb into a horse-drawn carriage for a ... tour of the park and farm.' C is incorrect as the carriages, not the farming equipment, are old.
- 20 The correct answer is F: The speaker says that the 'cattle and sheep' on the parkland 'are hardly ever found on farms these days'; they are rare. G is incorrect as the speaker says, 'We're helping to preserve them (the cattle and sheep)'; the visitors are not doing this.

Part 3

Questions 21–30

21 and 22 The correct answers are D and E (in either order): Ed says that they should include 'the emotional impact' of the performance (on them) and Gemma agrees. Gemma says that they should discuss scenes such as 'when Romeo climbs onto Juliet's balcony' and Ed mentions 'the fight between Mercutio and Tybalt'.

A is incorrect as Ed says that focusing on the 'poetry and ... imagery ... isn't really relevant in a review'.

B is incorrect as Gemma says, 'I don't think we need to describe what happens'.

C is incorrect as Gemma says, 'I don't think we'll have space' to describe the theatre.

23 The correct answer is D: Gemma says, 'I think it (the set) was visually really stunning.' Ed agrees: 'The set design was really amazing'.

B is incorrect as Ed says, 'I have seen similar ideas used in other productions'.

C is incorrect as nothing is said about the atmosphere created by the set.

24 The correct answer is C: Ed says that the lighting 'helped to change the mood (atmosphere) of the quieter scenes'. Gemma agrees: 'That's a good point.' F and G are incorrect as the students do not disagree about any aspect of the lighting.

25 The correct answer is A: Ed says, 'I had assumed it (the costume design) would be more conventional (traditional)' and Gemma replies, 'Me too'. D is incorrect. Ed says, 'I think it worked well', but the students do not agree that it was a major strength.

26 The correct answer is E: Gemma says that 'the music didn't have much impact in Acts 2 and 3'. Ed agrees, saying, 'Yes – that was a shame.' C is incorrect as the students do not discuss the atmosphere created by the music.

27 The correct answer is F: Gemma says that the actors' delivery was not good as 'They were speaking too fast'. Ed says, 'I thought it was because they weren't speaking loudly enough' and Gemma replies, 'I actually didn't have a problem with that'. E is incorrect as the students do not say that they were disappointed by the delivery.

28 The correct answer is B: Ed says, 'There are always disagreements and tension between teenagers and their parents.' Gemma says, 'Yes, that's something all young people can relate to'.

A is incorrect as the students say nothing about how easily conflict starts in the play.

C is incorrect as the students do not mention anything about teaching and learning.

29 The correct answer is C: Ed says, 'The ending was pretty powerful.' Gemma replies, 'Yes. That somehow intensified the emotion for me.' A and B are incorrect as Gemma says, 'I expected to find it more challenging (demanding), but I could follow the story pretty well.' Ed says, 'I stopped worrying about not being able to understand all the words'.

30 The correct answer is C: Gemma says that the plays 'can ... be understood on different levels' and Ed says that directors can 'experiment and find new angles'. A is incorrect as Ed refers to the 'basic themes' of the plays. B is incorrect as only the 'depth' of the characters is mentioned.

Part 4

Questions 31–40

- 31 The correct answer is '321,000': The speaker says that Icelandic 'is spoken by around 321,000 people'.
- 32 The correct answer is 'vocabulary': The speaker says that 'the vocabulary of Icelandic is continually increasing'. 'Speakers' and 'words' are incorrect as 'a' comes before the gap and 'is' comes after the gap.
- 33 The correct answer is 'podcast': The speaker says that 'there's an Icelandic word for podcast'. 'Internet' is incorrect as the speaker refers to browsing the internet but does not say that there is an Icelandic word for internet.
- 34 The correct answer is 'smartphones': The speaker says that 'young people use them (smartphones) all the time'. 'Books', 'TV', 'films', 'games' and 'music' are incorrect as they are examples of activities that can be pursued using smartphones.
- 35 The correct answer is 'bilingual': The speaker says that the use of technology 'promotes their (young people's) bilingual skills' and that 'it's all happening really fast'. 'English' is incorrect as the word 'becoming' rather than 'learning' comes before the gap.
- 36 The correct answer is 'playground': The speaker says that 'playground conversations in Icelandic secondary schools can be conducted entirely in English'. 'Playground conversations' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 37 The correct answer is 'picture': The speaker says that 'classes find it easier to say what is in a picture using English'. 'Situations' is incorrect as the speaker does not mention classes describing situations, and 'a' comes before the gap indicating a singular noun is required.
- 38 The correct answer is 'grammar': The speaker says that a 'drawback of Icelandic is the grammar, which is significantly more complex than in most languages'. The speaker adds that 'the tech giants are simply not interested in tackling this'. 'Systems' is incorrect as it does not make sense in the gap which is followed by 'is' not 'are'.
- 39 The correct answer is 'identity': The speaker asks, 'will young Icelanders lose their sense of their own identity?' 'Past' is incorrect as the speaker refers to 'how much of the past is tied up in a language'.
- 40 The correct answer is 'fluent': The speaker expresses concern about children learning two languages 'neither of which they are fully fluent in'. 'Express' and 'properly' are incorrect as an adjective is needed in the gap.

Reading Passage 1

Questions 1–13

- 1 The correct answer is 'rock': The text says that three teenagers were tending their goats and sheep and 'one of these young shepherds tossed (threw) a rock into an opening ... and was surprised to hear a shattering (breaking) sound'.
- 2 The correct answer is 'cave': The text says that 'He and his companions later entered the cave'. 'Opening' is incorrect here as they went through the opening into the cave.
- 3 The correct answer is 'clay': The text says that the teenagers found 'a collection of large clay jars'. 'Jars' is incorrect as the jars were the containers, not the material that the containers were made of.
- 4 The correct answer is 'Essenes': The text says, 'the people [who wrote the scrolls] are thought to have belonged to a group called the Essenes'. 'Romans' is incorrect as they did not write the scrolls. (In questions like this where the answer is an unusual word, be careful to copy it correctly from the text.)
- 5 The correct answer is 'Hebrew': The text says, 'The majority of the texts on the Dead Sea Scrolls are in Hebrew'. 'Aramaic' and 'Greek' are both incorrect as neither Aramaic nor Greek were the main language used on the scrolls.

- 6 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The first paragraph of the text says that the scrolls found by the teenagers 'were sold for a small sum', but there is no information about whether or not the teenagers were disappointed by this.
- 7 The correct answer is FALSE: According to the second paragraph, the origin of the Dead Sea Scrolls is 'still the subject of scholarly debate even today'. This means that academics still don't agree about their origin.
- 8 The correct answer is TRUE: The fourth paragraph of the text says, 'The only entire book of the Hebrew Bible preserved among the manuscripts ... is Isaiah'. The other manuscripts are all 'fragments' of books – incomplete parts.
- 9 The correct answer is TRUE: The fifth paragraph of the text says that the Copper Scroll is a 'curious document' which has 'letters chiselled (cut) onto metal', unlike the other scrolls which are written in ink on 'parchment ... or ... papyrus'.
- 10 The correct answer is FALSE: According to the sixth paragraph of the text, Mar Samuel bought some of the scrolls in Jerusalem, 'paying less than $100 for them'.
- 11 The correct answer is FALSE: The text says that Mar Samuel 'travelled to the United States and unsuccessfully offered [the scrolls] to a number of universities'. The universities (educational establishments) were therefore not keen to acquire the scrolls.
- 12 The correct answer is TRUE: The last paragraph says that the scroll that was reassembled (pieced or put together) gives details of 'two yearly (annual) religious events'. The second paragraph explains that the Dead Sea Scrolls 'were written around 2,000 years ago'.
- 13 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text says that 'Only one more ... scroll' still has to be translated but does not mention any research being done on this.

Reading Passage 2

Questions 14–26

- 14 The correct answer is C: The final paragraph in this section describes how a team in China have managed to create a type of tomato which can resist a 'disease called bacterial spot race, which can devastate yields', meaning a disease that can infect large numbers of plants, and so be dangerous.
- 15 The correct answer is B: The second paragraph in Section B says that when 'a single [wild tomato] plant with a mutation' is used for breeding, this can result in 'less desirable traits (features)' such as loss of 'much of their flavour'.
- 16 The correct answer is E: The second paragraph in this section mentions three plants ('foxtail, oat-grass and cowpea') that could become staple crops and might cope well with global warming.
- 17 The correct answer is A: The first paragraph mentions the first domestication of the wild tomato, which took 'at least 3,000 years', and then says that two teams have now 'done it [domesticated the tomato] all over again in less than three years'.
- 18 The correct answer is C: Jorg Kudla says that a newly domesticated tomato (one that has been genetically edited) is 'quite tasty ... A little bit strong. And very aromatic (pleasant smelling)'.
- 19 The correct answer is B: Caixa Gao says, 'By choosing wild plants that are drought or heat tolerant ... we could create crops that will thrive even as the planet warms.' (Section E)
- 20 The correct answer is D: Jonathan Jones thinks, 'it will be hard for new foods to grow so popular with farmers and consumers that they become new staple crops'. Here, 'staple crops' means crops that would be grown on a large scale. (Section E)
- 21 The correct answer is A: Jorg Kudla didn't want to 'reveal which species were in his team's sights (which types of food his research team were considering domesticating)' because the technology is now easy to use and enables 'Any one with the right skills' to achieve the same results. (Section E)
- 22 The correct answer is C: Joyce Van Eck says that her team has improved one wild fruit, the groundcherry, but further work 'would be expensive because of the need to pay for a licence ... and get ... approval' for the use of CRISPR technology. (Section D)
- 23 The correct answer is A: Jorg Kudla says that CRISPR technology could 'transform what we eat' because 'There are 50,000 edible plants in the world, but 90 percent of our energy comes from just 15 crops.' (Section A)

24 The correct answer is 'flavour' or 'flavor': Section B says, 'sometimes desirable mutations come with less desirable traits (features)' and gives the example of tomato plants which have lost their flavour.

25 The correct answer is 'size': Section C says that Kudla's team 'tripled the size of fruit' (referring to tomatoes) by editing one gene.

26 The correct answer is 'salt': Section C explains that a team in China have created a strain of tomato which is 'more salt tolerant' and 'has higher levels of (is rich in) vitamin C'.

Reading Passage 3

Questions 27–40

27 The correct answer is D: In the first paragraph, the writers summarise a popular belief or assumption about scientific discovery – that it involves personal genius and sudden inspiration.

A is incorrect: The writers are not defending these ideas but suggesting they may not be well founded.

B is incorrect: The writers present two aspects of common beliefs about scientific discovery but do not compare them.

C is incorrect: The writers present two widely held views but do not attempt to disprove either of them at this stage, although they do question the first view.

28 The correct answer is A: In the second paragraph, the writers say that if there is any truth in the popular belief described in the preceding paragraph, it is 'limited', and go on to make a strong general statement criticising the view: 'we believe that it largely misrepresents the real nature of scientific discovery'.

B is incorrect: The writers present a standpoint, but do not justify it at this stage in the text.

C is incorrect: The writers present an opinion but do not explain any approach to the analysis of scientific discovery.

D is incorrect: The writers are arguing against a common view, but do not present any support for their argument here.

29 The correct answer is A: The phrase 'Setting aside such greats as Darwin and Einstein' suggests that these two scientists are an exception to the general point being made in this article about innovation.

B is incorrect: The writers say that the contributions of these scientists are 'duly celebrated', meaning that they are appreciated, not misunderstood.

C is incorrect: The writers are setting aside these two scientists and suggesting that they are extremely unusual, so they would not be a useful model for others to try to copy.

D is incorrect: Since the achievements of these scientists are 'duly celebrated', they are already fully recognised.

30 The correct answer is C: John Nicholson 'proposed a novel theory about the structure of atoms' which was later used by Niels Bohr 'to conceive his now-famous model of the atom'.

A is incorrect: The writers say Nicholson was 'unheralded' meaning that he was not praised for his work.

B is incorrect: Although Bohr later developed his ideas, it did not lead to any fuller understanding of Nicholson or his work.

D is incorrect: There is no mention of the response of the whole scientific community to Nicholson's idea, only that Niels Bohr used it.

31 The correct answer is A: The writers suggest two possible scientific reasons why Westrope could have invented the stirrup placement, and then say that neither of these reasons are true, and that the real reason was just that 'He suffered a leg injury'.

B is incorrect: The writers do describe the enthusiasm which resulted from the invention, but the story of the invention is being told to illustrate how inventions happen, not their results.

C is incorrect as no research went into this invention.

D is incorrect: Although the writers suggest that an invention might be the result of 'a shrewd plan', the point of this example is that Westrope did not foresee that the change to the stirrup would increase his speed.

32 The correct answer is NO: In the eighth paragraph, the writers mention individuals such as Plato and Leonardo da Vinci to make the point that notions (ideas) such as 'insight, creativity and genius' are too vague to explain how the varied types of innovation were created by these individuals. The writers say, 'We need another approach'.

33 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The ninth paragraph says that the Law of Effect was put forward by a psychologist, but does not say that this happened when scientists were looking for a reason why creativity occurs.

34 The correct answer is YES: The writers say that the Law of Effect, which is concerned with how 'organisms tend to repeat successful behaviors', does not have 'any end objective', meaning that no planning is involved.

35 The correct answer is NO: The tenth paragraph says that 'the provenance of the raw material (the source of ideas and behaviours) on which the Law of Effect operates (which it deals with) are 'not ... clearly known'.

36 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: In the final paragraph, the writers say that it is a good time to abandon 'the naive notions of intelligent design and genius' but do not say that scientists are actually turning away from these ideas yet.

- 37 The correct answer is F 'inspiration': In the first paragraph, the writers describe the popular belief that breakthrough scientific achievements occur when a genius 'spontaneously' (suddenly) has an idea which is 'fully formed and functional' – that is, an inspiration.
- 38 The correct answer is D 'mistakes': In the fourth paragraph, the writers describe the work of John Nicholson to describe how scientists may also need to work for long periods and may make mistakes during this process, as when Nicholson put forward the idea of 'proto-elements', which do not actually exist.
- 39 The correct answer is E 'luck': In the seventh paragraph, the writers say, 'fresh advances can arise from error, misadventure, and also pure serendipity – a happy accident (luck)' and then illustrate how serendipity – a colleague having a product on hand to solve the problem of temporarily sticking bookmarks in a hymn book – led to the invention of the Post-It note.
- 40 The correct answer is B 'goals': In the ninth paragraph, the writers say, 'Just like Darwin's Law of Natural Selection, the Law of Effect involves an entirely mechanical process of variation and selection, without any end objective in sight' meaning that there are no clear goals.

Listening

Part 1

Questions 1–10

- 1 The correct answer is 'family': The man says that surfing is 'the kind of holiday all the family can enjoy together'.
- 2 The correct answer is 'fit': The woman says, 'I've heard you need to be pretty fit', and the man replies, 'Yes.' 'Physically' is incorrect as an adjective is needed in the gap.
- 3 The correct answer is 'hotels': The woman asks, 'Are there good hotels there?' The man replies, 'Yes – some very nice ones'. 'Campsites' is incorrect as the man describes these as 'basic'.
- 4 The correct answer is 'Carrowniskey': The man says, 'There's a good surf school at Carrowniskey beach'. The spelling of Carrowniskey is given so it is probably an answer to one of the questions.
- 5 The correct answer is 'week': The man says that the surf camp runs 'for a week'. 'Day' and 'hours' are incorrect as the man says that the camp runs for 'three hours every day for a week'.
- 6 The correct answer is 'bay': The man says that you can 'rent some kayaks to have a look around (explore) the bay'. 'Kids' is incorrect as the man says that he rented the kayak 'while the kids were surfing'.
- 7 The correct answer is 'September': The man says, 'September's my favourite month because the water is warmer then'. 'August' is incorrect as the man says that 'it tends to rain more in August'.
- 8 The correct answer is '19' or 'nineteen': The man says, 'The average temperature is about (approx.) 19 degrees'. '25' or 'twenty-five' is incorrect as the man says that the temperature 'usually doesn't go above 25 degrees' meaning that is the highest not the average temperature.
- 9 The correct answer is '30' or 'thirty': The man says, 'You can expect to pay a daily rate of about 30 euros for the hire of a wetsuit and board'. '40 or forty' is incorrect as this is an amount you can save: he says, 'you can save about 40 euros if you hire by the week'.
- 10 The correct answer is 'boots': The man says that 'they (boots) keep your feet warm'. 'Wetsuits' is incorrect as they have been mentioned already in the line above for Question 9. The answer is something else to hire: 'also advisable to hire'.

Part 2

Questions 11–20

- 11 and 12 The correct answers are B and E (in either order): The speaker says, 'we generally expect around 50–60 children (more) for the afternoon sessions and about half that number (fewer) for the breakfast sessions'. The speaker says that the school is 'insured to provide care for up to (a maximum of) 70 children'.
- A is incorrect as the speaker says that the school has been offering the service for 'ten years'.
- C is incorrect as this is the number that are expected in the afternoon sessions.
- D is incorrect as nothing is said about limiting a child's attendance to one session.
- 13 The correct answer is C: The speaker says, 'For the afternoon sessions ... it's £7.20.' A and B are incorrect as these prices are for part of the session: '... you can pay for one hour only, which costs £3.50, or two hours which costs £5.70'.
- 14 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that 'At 5 p.m. children are given something more substantial, such as pasta or a casserole (a proper meal)'.
- A is incorrect as the school will 'make sure they're (the children with allergies) offered a suitable alternative'.
- B is incorrect as the speaker says, 'The cost of the childcare includes food and snacks'.
- 15 The correct answer is A: The speaker says that 'spaces are available for them (children from other schools)'.
- B is incorrect as the speaker says, 'we're unable to do this (allow older children to attend) because of the ... insurance'.
- C is incorrect as the speaker does not mention more children attending in the holidays. Children 'from other schools' can attend but they take the places of term-time children who don't attend.
- 16 The correct answer is E: The speaker says that Spanish is 'the only activity which we have to make an extra charge for'. C is incorrect as the speaker says that there is one session 'for the over 8s and one for the younger children'.
- 17 The correct answer is D: The speaker says, 'We do rely on parental support [for music]'.
- G is incorrect as the speaker doesn't say anything about children requesting music.
- 18 The correct answer is G: The speaker says that 'children kept asking if they could do some art'. E is incorrect as the speaker refers to the 'extra mess involved' but does not mention an extra fee.
- 19 The correct answer is F: The speaker says that there were no teachers for yoga 'until now'. She also says, 'So we'll see how this goes.' A and B are incorrect as the speaker does not say anything about places being limited or unavailable.
- 20 The correct answer is C: The speaker says, 'we've decided to restrict this to the over 8s'.
- A and B are incorrect as the age is restricted (limited), rather than the availability.

Part 3

Questions 21–30

21 The correct answer is B: Holly says, 'it's the fresh air that attracts me'.

A is incorrect as only her tutor mentions children: '... it can be tougher than you think working with children'.

C is incorrect as Holly mentions that 'it might be fun' working indoors not outdoors.

22 The correct answer is A: Dr Green says, 'the grounds ... will be yours'. Holly replies, 'that'll include keeping everyone within the boundary', and Dr Green says, 'Exactly ... your main priority will be not to lose anyone'.

B is incorrect as Dr Green says, 'the equipment will be their (the schools') responsibility'.

C is incorrect as Dr Green mentions inspecting the changing rooms, but he does not emphasise removing obstacles from them.

23 The correct answer is A: Holly says, 'I'll need to make sure they (the spectators) don't interfere with events'. Dr Green replies, 'And that's not always easy'.

B is incorrect. Holly suggests that the spectators 'could help run the event', but Dr Green replies, 'I wouldn't rely on that'.

C is incorrect as Dr Green refers to 'a proud [parent] trying to get a snap (photograph) of their child'.

24 The correct answer is B: Holly says, 'I know that last year [someone getting hurt] caused a terrible delay'.

A is incorrect as Dr Green says, 'we've always been lucky with that (rain)'.

C is incorrect as neither speaker says that extra time has been needed for a match in the past.

- 25 The correct answer is C: Dr Green reminds Holly that communication 'isn't only about what you say'. Holly replies that she will 'dress up' for important face-to-face meetings and Dr Green says, 'Good.'
- E is incorrect as Dr Green mentions 'sponsors', not experts.
- F is incorrect as Holly talks about her skills, not her views about the future.
- 26 The correct answer is A: Dr Green tells Holly that 'things won't always go to plan' and that she 'may have to make an on-the-spot change'. Holly replies, 'OK.' G is incorrect as the discussion is about being able to make changes, rather than doing one thing at a time.
- 27 The correct answer is D: Holly says, 'I know I've got to look calm even if I'm in a panic.' Dr Green says, 'Just think to yourself – no one must know I'm under pressure.' G is incorrect as Holly refers to herself as 'multi-tasking (doing many things at a time) like crazy'.
- 28 The correct answer is B: Dr Green says that an events manager has to 'think of all the fine points'. Holly says, 'Right so I need to ... fill in all the gaps'. G is incorrect as Holly and Dr Green mention 'points' and 'gaps' but not working on these one at a time.
- 29 The correct answer is F: Dr Green tells Holly to 'believe in what you think best', and Holly replies, 'I see what you mean.' E is incorrect as it expresses an opposing idea – relying on others.
- 30 The correct answer is H: Dr Green says, '... think ahead – remember what your ambitions are and keep them in mind'. Holly replies, 'Definitely.' F is incorrect as Dr Green encourages Holly to impress people by giving her views, rather than trusting them.

Part 4

Questions 31–40

- 31 The correct answer is 'mud': The speaker says, 'Another theory ... was that they (birds) spent winter hidden in mud till the weather changed'. 'Oceans' is incorrect as hibernating underwater is already stated in the question.
- 32 The correct answer is 'feathers': The speaker says that Aristotle 'observed that in the autumn ... redstarts began to lose their feathers'. 'Their feathers' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.
- 33 The correct answer is 'shape': The speaker says, 'this pair of species (redstarts and robins) are similar in shape'. 'Observations' is incorrect as the speaker refers to Aristotle's observations, not the birds' and as 'a' comes before the gap meaning a singular noun is required.
- 34 The correct answer is 'moon': The speaker says that Charles Morton claimed that 'birds migrate to the moon and back every year'.
- 35 The correct answer is 'neck': The speaker says, the stork had a 'long spear in its neck'. 'Tribe' is incorrect as there is no mention of the stork having a tribe: 'It turned out to be a spear from a tribe in Central Africa.'
- 36 The correct answer is 'evidence': The speaker says that finding the stork 'was the first evidence that storks spend their winters in sub-Saharan Africa'. 'History' is incorrect as it does not fit with the words after the gap 'that storks migrate'.
- 37 The correct answer is 'destinations': The speaker says that before ringing the birds' legs, 'very little information was available about the ... destinations of particular species'. 'Travelled' is incorrect as a noun is needed in the gap before 'and journeys'.
- 38 The correct answer is 'oceans': The speaker says, 'it seemed impossible that small birds ... could fly over vast (huge) oceans'. 'Data' is incorrect as something birds can travel across is needed in the gap.
- 39 The correct answer is 'recovery': The speaker says that 'This (bird ringing) ... relies (depends) upon what is known as "recovery"'. 'Identified' is incorrect as a noun is needed in the gap following 'the'.
- 40 The correct answer is 'atlas': The speaker says, 'In 1931 an atlas was published (printed) showing where the most common species of European birds migrated to.' 'Data' is incorrect as the speaker does not say that the data was printed.

Test 3 answer key with extra explanations

Reading

Reading Passage 1

Questions 1–13

- 1 The correct answer is 'carnivorous': In the second paragraph, the text says, 'In terms of feeding, it was exclusively (entirely) carnivorous'.
- 2 The correct answer is 'scent': The text says, 'During long-distance chases, thylacines were likely to have relied more on scent than any other sense.' 'Chases' and 'exhausting' are both incorrect as the answer must be a sense.
- 3 The correct answer is 'pouch': The text says, 'Newborns crawled into the pouch on the belly of their mother ... remaining there for up to three months.' 'Cave', 'nest' and 'log' are all incorrect as the newborns did not spend the first months of their lives there.
- 4 The correct answer is 'fossil': The text says, 'The most recent, well-dated occurrence of a thylacine on the mainland is a carbon-dated fossil from Murray Cave ... which is around 3,100 years old.' 'Cave' is incorrect as the cave itself is not evidence (proof) of the animal.
- 5 The correct answer is 'habitat': The text says, 'it is likely that various other factors also contributed to the decline ... of the species. These include ... loss of habitat along with the disappearance of prey species'. 'Species' is incorrect as the available sources of food in the question refer to the 'disappearance of prey species' in the text.
- 6 The correct answer is TRUE: In the fifth paragraph, the text says, 'the relentless efforts of sheep farmers and bounty hunters with shotguns ... played a large part' in the dramatic decline of the thylacine after the 1830s, meaning that the farmers and bounty hunters killed large numbers of thylacines.

- 7 The correct answer is FALSE: In the sixth paragraph, the text says that although there were large numbers of thylacines in some zoos, 'There was only one successful attempt to breed a thylacine in captivity', meaning that only one thylacine was actually born in a zoo.
- 8 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text tells us that John Gould 'foresaw the thylacine's demise (predicted the thylacine would become extinct)', but there is no information about how biologists reacted to this.
- 9 The correct answer is FALSE: In the seventh paragraph, the text says that scientists did not express much concern 'at the decline of the species'.
- 10 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: Flynn proposed rehoming some thylacines on an island, but the text does not explain why his proposal was not accepted.
- 11 The correct answer is FALSE: Legislation protecting thylacines was passed in 1929, but the text says that by then 'the species [was] on the very edge of extinction', meaning that there were very few left.
- 12 The correct answer is TRUE: The text says that the last wild thylacine was shot in 1930, 'leaving just captive specimens'.
- 13 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text says, 'There have been numerous expeditions and searches for the thylacine over the years', but does not say how frequent they are now or whether they are continuing at present.

Reading Passage 2

Questions 14–26

- 14 The correct answer is F: According to this section, less land has to be cleared to produce palm oil than other types of oil, and oil palm trees capture more carbon from the air than 'other alternatives' such as rice.
- 15 The correct answer is G: This section describes a group called the Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil, which lays down 'standards that producers of palm oil have to meet in order for their product to be regarded as officially "sustainable"'.
- 16 The correct answer is A: This section says that palm oil is 'the most consumed vegetable oil in the world', and then mentions soap, sandwiches and biscuits as examples of its use.
- 17 The correct answer is H: This section explains how the bird's nest fern 'performs a vital ecological role' and could help to recover biodiversity in oil palm plantations by providing a home for a range of species.
- 18 The correct answer is B: This section gives figures illustrating how the amount of land used for growing oil palms and the amount of palm oil produced every year have both increased dramatically in recent years.
- 19 The correct answer is E: This section makes the point that the palm oil industry is a source of income for 'millions of people in the developing world' and 'many low-income people in developing countries depend on it for their livelihoods'.
- 20 The correct answer is C: This section says that 'the Sumatran orangutan ... rhinos, elephants, tigers' have all 'suffered from the unstoppable spread of oil palm plantations'.

21 and 22 The correct answers are B and C (in either order):

B is correct: The writer says that the RSPO 'insists upon ... transparency'. Here, transparency refers to the need for an organisation to be open and honest about what they do.

C is correct: The writer says, 'Over the past decade or so, an agreement has gradually been reached regarding standards that producers of palm oil have to meet in order for their product to be regarded as officially "sustainable".' This tells us that it took at least ten years for the criteria to be established.

A is incorrect as there is no information about any increase in the membership of the organisation.

D is incorrect as there is no information about regulations for any other industries – only palm oil production is referred to.

E is incorrect as although we are told who belongs to the organisation, there is no information about who asked for the organisation to be formed.

23 The correct answer is 'solid': In Section A, the writer says that one of the unique properties of palm oil that makes it attractive to manufacturers is that it remains 'solid at room temperature'.

24 The correct answer is '(Sumatran) orangutan' or 'orang-utan': In Section C, the writer mentions several species affected by the spread of oil palm plantations, but says that the Sumatran orangutan is the most famous of these.

25 The correct answer is 'carbon stocks': In Section G, the writer says, 'the RSPO insists upon ... regular assessment of carbon stocks'. Other criteria are mentioned, but carbon stocks is the only one which has to be regularly assessed (checked on a routine basis).

26 The correct answer is 'biodiversity': In Section H, the writer says that in his lab, Ellwood and his researchers are investigating whether the bird's nest fern could allow oil palm plantations 'to recover (restore) their biodiversity'. 'Species' is incorrect here as the text only says that a home could be provided for various species, not that the species could be restored.

Reading Passage 3

Questions 27–40

27 The correct answer is D: The text says that the second part of the book covers ‘different aspects of New York’s urban development’.

A is incorrect as there is nothing in the paragraph to support the idea that the explanation of urban development is highly original.

B is incorrect as the research papers are only incorporated in the second half of the book not throughout.

C is incorrect as no other books are mentioned in the paragraph.

28 The correct answer is B: In the third paragraph, the reviewer says that she ‘would have liked Barr to expand upon his claim that existing tenements prevented [the erection of] skyscrapers’ in some regions, suggesting that Barr’s analysis lacks enough detail.

A is incorrect as although the text refers to interest, this is in reference to the developers, not to Barr.

C is incorrect as there is no reference to other writers in the paragraph.

D is incorrect as there is no reference to where Barr got his information from.

29 The correct answer is C: In the sixth paragraph, the reviewer says that chapter six is ‘probably more technical than would be preferred by a general audience’.

A is incorrect as there is no suggestion that there is any conflict in the data presented.

B is incorrect as although the reviewer refers to analysis used ‘to “predict” building construction’, she is not talking about future trends here – the inverted commas around ‘predict’ tell us that the word is being used in a different sense.

D is incorrect as the data on building height is not out of date – it applies to twentieth-century buildings.

30 The correct answer is D: In the eighth paragraph, the reviewer says that although the theoretical discussions in this part of the book may be of interest to undergraduates, they ‘may serve as a distraction (may not be relevant)’ to those just reading for general interest.

A is incorrect as although the way the information is organised in these two chapters is summarised, the reviewer does not say that the chapters are badly organised.

B is incorrect as there is no reference to any important information having been omitted.

C is incorrect as although the reviewer summarises the explanation given by Barr, she doesn’t criticise it in any way.

- 31 The correct answer is C: The reviewer is particularly impressed by 'the data work' on which estimations of land values were based. A, B and D are all incorrect as although all these topics are addressed by the reviewer, she does not say that she is impressed by the writer's treatment of them.
- 32 The correct answer is NO: Rather than saying that the description lacks interest, the reviewer says the opposite – she refers to 'a fascinating account'.
- 33 The correct answer is YES: The reviewer says that these two chapters 'set the stage' for the analysis later in the book, meaning that they prepare the reader for this.
- 34 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The reviewer mentions the amenities available in immigrant areas, but does not say that there was any problem related to amenities.
- 35 The correct answer is NO: The immigrant neighbourhoods did not congregate around the harbour; they were 'between ... the waterfront (the harbour) and the wealthy neighbourhoods'.
- 36 The correct answer is H 'specific areas': The text says that skyscrapers are absent from the area 'between Downtown and Midtown New York'.
- 37 The correct answer is D 'excessive expense': The text says that the increase in costs was not 'prohibitively high', meaning that the expense was not excessive.
- 38 The correct answer is I 'total expenditure': The expense is not excessive when considered with 'the overall cost of building a skyscraper'.
- 39 The correct answer is B 'deep excavations': The text says that to build foundations, workers have to 'dig down for considerable distances'. E is incorrect as although this is difficult, it is possible because of the use of caissons.
- 40 The correct answer is F 'associated risks': The text mentions the 'dangers involved' in using caissons. D is incorrect as we are not told anything about the expense of caissons.

Listening

Part 1

Questions 1–10

- 1 The correct answer is 'floor' or 'floors': The man says that 'the floor would need cleaning'. The woman replies, 'Of course'. 'Carpets' is incorrect as when the woman asks, 'Does your apartment have carpets?', the man replies, 'No'.
- 2 The correct answer is 'fridge': The man asks, 'can you do the fridge?' The woman replies, 'Sure.' 'Oven' is incorrect as the man tells the woman 'I hardly ever use that (the oven)'.
- 3 The correct answer is 'shirts': The man says, 'It (the ironing) wouldn't be much, just my shirts'. 'Work' is incorrect as an item of clothing is needed in the gap.
- 4 The correct answer is 'windows': The woman says, 'if the inside of your windows need cleaning, we could do that'. The man replies, 'Yes, that'd be good.' 'Microwave' is incorrect as the man says, 'I wipe [the microwave] out pretty regularly so there's no need for that'.
- 5 The correct answer is 'balcony': The man asks, 'would you be able to do something about the balcony?' The woman replies, 'Yes, we can get the pressure washer onto that.' 'Curtains' is incorrect as when the woman asks about them, the man says, 'No, they're OK.'
- 6 The correct answer is 'electrician': The woman says, 'we can put you in touch with ... a plumber ... And the same thing if you need an electrician'. The man replies, 'Right. That's good to know'. 'Reliable one' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only. The answer must begin with a vowel as 'an' comes before the gap.

7 The correct answer is 'dust': The woman offers 'a special vacuum cleaning system which can ... [capture] up to 99% of all the dust in the air'.

'Air quality' is incorrect as the instructions tell you to write one word only.

'Air' is incorrect as the words 'allergic to' come before the gap.

8 The correct answer is 'police': The woman says that her cleaning staff 'have to undergo a security check with the police'. 'Security' is incorrect as a person or organisation is needed in the gap.

9 The correct answer is 'training': The woman tells the man that 'training ... lasts for two weeks'. 'Test' is incorrect as this does not last two weeks: 'at the end of it (the training) they have a test'.

10 The correct answer is 'review': The woman says, 'we ask all our clients to complete a review ... after every visit'.

'Monitor' is incorrect as this is something the cleaning company does: 'we monitor them very carefully' and it is a verb not a noun.

'Email' is incorrect as 'a' not 'an' comes before the gap.

Part 2

Questions 11–20

- 11 The correct answer is A: The speaker says, 'what they (managers) don't realise is that it's the lack of training ... which is a huge factor'. B and C are incorrect as the speaker explains that these are false ideas: 'A lot of managers think it's this (the low pay) and the long hours that are the main causes of high staff turnover – but what they don't realise is ... '.
- 12 The correct answer is A: The speaker says that 'managers may have to cover some duties'.
- B is incorrect as it is the staff who may have low morale: 'It (staff leaving) has a negative effect on remaining staff'.
- C is incorrect as the speaker does not mention targets.
- 13 The correct answer is A: The speaker tells managers to make sure they 'never give certain staff preferential (special) treatment'.
- B is incorrect as the speaker only mentions 'organising shifts'.
- C is incorrect as the speaker refers to staff '[stepping in] and [helping] when extra staff are needed'. The speaker does not mention managers not having enough staff in busy periods.
- 14 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that the hotel 'noticed a significant increase in the amount each customer spent during their stay'.
- B is incorrect as the speaker says, the hotel has 'now introduced a customer loyalty scheme'.
- A is incorrect as the speaker refers to staff complaints, not customer complaints.

- 15 The correct answer is A: The speaker says, 'Junior staff at all levels are regularly invited to meetings where their ideas are welcomed'.
- B is incorrect as nothing is said about staff pay (financial benefits).
- C is incorrect as different levels of staff are mentioned (managers; junior staff), but nothing is said about career changes or prospects (opportunities).
- 16 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that the hotel is 'organising training for individuals with management potential'. A is incorrect as nothing is said about staff relationships or teamwork.
- 17 The correct answer is B: The speaker says, 'As a reward, they're sent on an all-expenses-paid trip abroad every year'.
- A is incorrect as nothing is said about improving relationships or teamwork.
- C is incorrect as the speaker mentions '50 high achievers' but does not discuss promotions or changes in career (opportunities).
- 18 The correct answer is C: The speaker says that in order to show staff that 'working in a hotel could be worthwhile and rewarding, with good prospects, they introduced a management programme'. A is incorrect as there is no mention of improving relationships among staff.
- 19 The correct answer is B: The speaker says that the hotel 'began issuing vouchers to help cover the cost of childcare'. A and C are incorrect as there is no mention of improving relationships or providing career opportunities.
- 20 The correct answer is A: The speaker says that the hotel manager has created 'a co-operative and supportive environment' and that 'the staff are part of a large family where everyone is valued'. B and C are incorrect as there is no mention of incentives, financial benefits or career opportunities.

Part 3

Questions 21–30

21 and 22 The correct answers are C and E (in either order): Thomas says, 'all my classmates assumed I would achieve it (being a professional athlete); they thought I was brilliant'. Jeanne replies, 'That must have been a nice feeling.' Thomas says, 'I should have practised more'.

A is incorrect as Thomas felt positive: 'I thought I could win anything'.

B is incorrect as Thomas says nothing about the training being too hard (challenging).

D is incorrect as Thomas says, 'Perhaps they (his parents) should have pushed me harder'. He says nothing about them being disappointed in him.

23 and 24 The correct answers are A and D (in either order): Thomas says, 'I just kept thinking how fortunate I was. What a great chance this was!' He was grateful for the chance. Thomas then says, 'I very quickly realised I wasn't good enough'. Jeanne replies, 'That must have been a huge shock.' Thomas says, 'I thought "this can't be happening!"' He could not believe it.

B, C and E are incorrect as he says nothing about feeling relief, stress or homesickness.

25 The correct answer is B: Thomas says, 'In about the 1920s, a factory was making rolls of the rubber (used on table tennis bats) in bulk for something like horse harnesses.'

E is incorrect as nothing is said about the cost of the material.

26 The correct answer is F: Thomas says that the batsman who wore the first helmet 'was booed and jeered by people watching because it was so ugly'. G is incorrect as Jeanne says that the helmet prevented, rather than caused, injuries: 'players have to protect themselves from getting hurt!'

27 The correct answer is A: Thomas points out that 'serious cyclists ended up with wet hair from all the hard exercise'. Jeanne replies, 'I guess that's why they have large air vents in them now so that the skin can breathe more easily.' H is incorrect as Jeanne notes that the woman in an early picture is 'so proud to be wearing it (the helmet)'.

28 The correct answer is D: Jeanne says that early golf clubs 'would easily break and players had to get another'. G is incorrect as Jeanne says that golf clubs are 'much more powerful' now, but nothing is said about the clubs causing injuries.

29 The correct answer is C: Jeanne says that 'when the game started you had to produce a stick yourself'. D and G are incorrect as there is no mention of replacing the sticks or of them causing injuries.

30 The correct answer is G: Thomas says, 'You can imagine the damage to players' necks when the ball was headed.' Jeanne replies, 'How painful that must have been!'

B is incorrect as Jeanne says, 'the first balls were made of animal skin'.

C is incorrect as the students do not say who made the balls.

Questions 31–40

- 31 The correct answer is 'golden': The speaker says, 'Maple syrup is a thick, golden, sweet-tasting liquid'. 'Honey' is incorrect as the speaker compares maple syrup to 'clear honey' but does not use the word 'honey' to describe its colour. 'Natural' is incorrect as the speaker says it is a 'natural product', not that it is a natural colour.
- 32 The correct answer is 'healthy': The speaker says that maple syrup 'provides a healthy alternative to refined sugar'. 'Alternative' is incorrect as this word makes no sense in the gap.
- 33 The correct answer is 'climate': The speaker says, 'In these areas (Canada and North America), the climate suits the trees perfectly.' 'Trees' is incorrect as the speaker does not say whether the trees in these areas are the best.
- 34 The correct answer is 'rock' or 'rocks': The speaker says that the early producers of maple syrup used 'pieces of rock that had become scorching hot from the sun' to boil the liquid sap. 'Sun' is incorrect as they did not use the sun to heat the sap.
- 35 The correct answer is 'diameter': The speaker says that the trees 'cannot be used to make syrup until the trunks reach a diameter of around 25 centimetres. This can take anything up to 40 years'. 'Centimetres' is incorrect as objects, such as trees, cannot have centimetres.
- 36 The correct answer is 'tube': The speaker says that production of the syrup involves 'inserting a tube into [a hole in the trunk] that ends in a bucket'. 'Worker' or 'workers' is incorrect as they perform a different function: 'The workers take care not to cause any damage to the healthy growth of the tree'.
- 37 The correct answer is 'fire': The speaker says that 'a fire is built, and the pans are then heated until the sap boils'. 'Heat' is incorrect as 'a' comes before the gap and the answer is too vague.
- 38 The correct answer is 'steam': The speaker says, 'The evaporation process creates large quantities of steam'. 'Syrup' is incorrect as the speaker does not mention how much syrup is produced.
- 39 The correct answer is 'cloudy': The speaker says that sugar sand 'gives the syrup a cloudy appearance'. 'Gritty' is incorrect as the speaker uses this word to describe the taste: 'a slightly gritty taste'.
- 40 The correct answer is 'litre' or 'liter': The speaker says, 'It takes 40 litres of sap to produce one litre of maple syrup'. 'Variety' is incorrect as the speaker refers to the 'variety of products' that are made using maple syrup, not the variety of syrups: '[The syrup] can be used for a whole variety of products'.

Reading Passage 1

Questions 1–13

- 1 The correct answer is FALSE: According to the first paragraph of the text, 'insect pests are destroying' the rice in farmers' paddy fields. It is the farmers who are clearing forests to create more fields.
- 2 The correct answer is FALSE: The first paragraph says that 'not all species are suffering. In fact, some of the island's insectivorous bats are currently thriving [doing well]'.
- 3 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text says that Rocha is based in Cambridge, and has carried out a study in Madagascar, but we are not told whether or not he is also studying bats in other parts of the world.
- 4 The correct answer is TRUE: The fourth paragraph says that 'several species of indigenous bats are taking advantage of habitat modification to hunt insects swarming above the country's rice fields'. By hunting the insects, they are useful to farmers.
- 5 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The text names four species of bats that are indigenous to Madagascar, but does not say which of these is most common.
- 6 The correct answer is TRUE: The text says that 'bats are preying (feeding) on rice pests' and gives examples of two of these pests, 'the paddy swarming caterpillar and grass webworm'.

- 7 The correct answer is 'droppings': In the seventh paragraph, the text says that Rocha and his team used 'DNA barcoding techniques to analyse droppings collected from bats'.
- 8 The correct answer is 'coffee': At the end of the seventh paragraph, the writer lists several pests that the bats feed on, together with the crops affected by these pests. The next crop mentioned after rice is coffee, which is preyed on by the black twig borer.
- 9 The correct answer is 'mosquitoes': The text says that as well as eating crop pests, the bats eat other harmful insects – mosquitoes and blackflies.
- 10 The correct answer is 'protein': The text says that bats may be a 'crucial source of protein for local people'.
- 11 The correct answer is 'unclean': When the bats roost (shelter) in buildings, they are not welcomed by local people 'because they make [the buildings] unclean'.
- 12 The correct answer is 'culture': Because they are 'associated with sacred caves and the ancestors', the bats are 'very significant in the culture of the people'.
- 13 The correct answer is 'houses': Rocha hopes that farmers can install 'bat houses'.

Reading Passage 2

Questions 14–26

- 14 The correct answer is E: According to this section, one way of doing research into the relationship between economic growth and education is to study the 'lives of different people with the same level of wealth over a period of time'.
- 15 The correct answer is A: The second sentence mentions various sources that the team used to compile the database, including court records, guild ledgers and parish registers.
- 16 The correct answer is D: This section describes how Juliana Schweickherdt 'was reprimanded (scolded)' for doing jobs reserved for male guild members, but continued to do this.
- 17 The correct answer is F: Ogilvie says that 'German-speaking central Europe is an excellent laboratory for testing theories of economic growth', meaning that the area is particularly suitable for this.
- 18 The correct answer is C: The second sentence gives various examples of 'the belongings of women and men' including badger skins, Bibles and sewing machines.
- 19 The correct answer is 'descendants': In Section D, Ogilvie is quoted as saying that 'We can follow the same people – and their descendants – across 300 years of educational and economic change'.
- 20 The correct answer is 'sermon': The two young women 'were chastised (reprimanded) in 1707 for reading books in church instead of listening to the sermon'.
- 21 The correct answer is 'fine': Juliana Schweickherdt 'was summoned before the guild court and told to pay a fine', when she refused to stop doing work 'reserved for male guild members'.
- 22 The correct answer is 'innovation': At the end of Section D, we are told that the guilds 'held back even the simplest industrial innovation'.

23 and 24 The correct answers are B and E (in either order):

B is correct: The text says that in this period Germany 'had excellent literacy rates'.

E is correct: The text says that the economy of England 'grew fast and it was the first country to industrialise'. Ogilvie adds, 'there is plenty of evidence that [economic] growth increases education'.

A is incorrect as the text refers to 'Modern cross-country analyses' carried out on the relationship between education (high literacy rates) and economic growth (improved earnings), meaning that research has been carried out in this area.

C is incorrect as the text says that researchers have 'struggled (found it difficult) to find evidence that education causes economic growth'.

D is incorrect as the text says that in this period 'England had only mediocre literacy rates' but despite this, 'its economy grew fast and it was the first country to industrialise'.

25 and 26 The correct answers are B and D (in either order):

B is correct: The text says that the guilds 'blocked labour migration (the movement of people into an area to get work)'.

D is correct: The text says that the guilds had 'monopolies (exclusive control over certain trades)', and that they 'legislated (took legal action)' against anything that threatened this control.

A is incorrect as although education and the use that can be made of it is discussed in this section, there is nothing specifically about young people or about help given by the guilds.

C is incorrect as although literacy and book ownership are mentioned in this section, there is no reference to the guilds keeping records.

E is incorrect as the 'merchant associations' were not the same thing as the guilds, and we do not know whether the merchants themselves were wealthy or not.

Reading Passage 3

Questions 27–40

- 27 The correct answer is D: In this paragraph, the writer refers to two examples of blindfold chess, one in the thirteenth century and one in 1947.
- 28 The correct answer is E: This paragraph summarises how players develop the various skills required for (involved in) playing blindfold chess, by training the memory.
- 29 The correct answer is F: Rissman says that when tested, Gareyev did not seem to be 'supremely gifted (specially good)' at anything apart from playing chess.
- 30 The correct answer is B: Researchers at UCLA are interested in knowing how people like Gareyev can perform in the way that they do.
- 31 The correct answer is H: The final paragraph quotes Gareyev's explanation of what is most important for him about what he does – not winning but finding something he can 'fully dedicate' himself to.
- 32 The correct answer is E: The writer says, 'the ends of games are taxing ... as exhaustion sets in'.
- 33 The correct answer is FALSE: The first paragraph says that Gareyev will be blindfolded, but his challengers will 'play the games as normal' – that is, not blindfolded.
- 34 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: According to the first paragraph, Gareyev 'gets his kicks' from BASE jumping (he finds it exciting), but we are not told whether he has entered or won competitions in this sport.
- 35 The correct answer is NOT GIVEN: The second paragraph tells us that research into blindfold chess players is being carried out in UCLA, but not that UCLA is the first institution to do this.
- 36 The correct answer is TRUE: The text says that the ability to play chess with your eyes closed is 'not a far reach (not a very difficult task)' for good players.
- 37 The correct answer is 'memory': According to Paragraph F, the first thing the scientists did was to make Gareyev do 'some standard memory tests'.
- 38 The correct answer is 'numbers': One of the tests involved repeating numbers 'both forwards and backwards'.
- 39 The correct answer is 'communication': According to the text, the scans of Gareyev's brain showed 'much greater than average communication' between certain parts of his brain – the network that 'helps you to allocate attention'.
- 40 The correct answer is 'visual': In Paragraph G, the text says that Gareyev's 'visual network' is more closely connected to other areas of the brain than usual.
