

Why do so many young adults live with their parents even after graduating from college?

I suppose it's primarily because it would save a lot of money cause if you live with your parents, you don't have to pay rent, utilities or food costs. Although many people say some young adults are mooching off their parents, it's just that they have no choice cause not a lot of people make a good salary right after leaving school.

Pay rent and/or food costs

Pay utilities 交水费、燃气费等等 (公用事业费用)

Mooch off their parents 白吃、白喝、白用父母的

Make a good salary 得到不错的薪水

Are there any disadvantages of young adults living with parents?

Um, I think there are a few disadvantages. One is that you always have to keep your parents posted on your whereabouts. If you don't, you might get endless phone calls from them. However, if you live on your own, you can be with your friends as late as you want. For instance, you can party until even 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning and no one will nag you at all. Besides, there's a chance that you might gradually get lazier cause you always have others cooking, doing the laundry, doing the dishes for you and it doesn't help to make you an independent person.
