

Describe a place you went to that was full of colors

You should say

What place it is

Why you went there

What you did there

And explain why you think this place was made so colorful

Three years ago I went on a trip to Tibet with my folks and we stayed there for a week. Among all the places we went to, my favorite was Yamdrok Lake. It's a freshwater lake and it's one of the three largest sacred lakes in Tibet. I was quite stunned by the spectacular views. I mean, when I saw the lake, it really took my breath away. It was so immense and the water was crystal-clear.

Um, apart from taking hundreds of photos, we also had a picnic by the lake. We were quite lucky cause there were not a lot of people doing the same and we just felt really good about it.

Well, there are tons of colors there. For instance, the lake is blue which is really gorgeous. And there are many snow-capped mountains around, so definitely they're white. More importantly, you get to see a lot of prayer flags. I'm not sure if you know what they are, but if you go to Tibet, you can see them everywhere. They're made up of five colors---red, yellow, green and ...um, what else ...white and blue probably. I'm sure each of them represents something like good harvest, many children and so on. But I'm sorry, I'm not really an expert on that ...

Anyway, it was a really beautiful place and visiting it was like a once-in-a-lifetime experience.
