核心专用内容使用方法

- 1.地 5- (D5) 的使用条件, 仅针对外部空间以及建筑物, 通常最后一句(it's a  place to )留给最后一题
- 2.人 6- (R/P6) 的使用条件, 优选朋友、同学、同事、邻居、偶像; 次选家人和陌生人(删减不合理内容 - 本名/别名/关系)
- 3.人物类话题的第二个小题-直接默认“How you know/knew this person”(不包含家人和陌生人)
- 4.以上问题用忘 4- (NR) 来回答, 限定在 for the first time
5. 忘 4 的使用可以在单一话题中出现多次, 最多用 3 次, 每次都不同, 因此要合理分配“NR/NS/NG”; 但是, 大多数的 why 和 how you feel 都不能用(第一人称主观类内容)
- 6.看到话题之后, 先用“人/地/物/忘+时/空/逻辑”对应话题的提示问题, 实施多退少补, 同时把每部分的内容笔记直接写出

Ok, so, an interesting building I'd like to talk about would be Guandimiao, also known as Guandi Ancient Temple, located in a city called Yuncheng, which lies in the southernmost of Shanxi province. Um, it's quite far from where I am, which takes me about 4-5 hours to get there by car.

Regarding what it looks like, well, from afar, there are many traditional buildings at the foot of a hill and a massive statue of Guandi on the top hill. Moving closer, I can see tall red walls surrounding the temple and some stone lion sculptures at the gate. Inside the temple, it's full of people who worship Guandi for good fortune, health and blessings.

As for what function it has, um, I can think of several uses of this landmark. To begin with, it helps to protect traditional architecture and culture in the local area. Besides, it's also a famous tourist attraction that can promote the very culture and bring more income for the local people.

As far as I'm concerned, it's an absolutely awesome place to visit, because it reminds of the legends of this legendary historical figure in China.

OK, so, the thing I'd like to talk about would be a device with cutting-edge technology called sodijiqiren, also known as robot vacuum cleaner, which is a kind of smart home appliance. What it basically does is to sweep and mop the floor in people's homes, and I usually use it to free my hands and keep my floor spotless. Honestly, it's an absolutely important gadget in my daily life. Frankly speaking, I can't remember exactly when it broke, because it's been ages, but if my memory serves me, it was probably 2 or 3 months ago, during the Chinese New Year holiday. Speaking of how it was broken, honestly, I'm not 100% sure about that, since I'm not an electronic engineer, however, as far as I could see, it couldn't go back to the charging station by itself. Instead, it went in circles until the battery was dead.

As for how I got it repaired, to tell you the truth, I really can't tell you that, for it wasn't me who fixed it, anyway, I guess, it must be some professionals in the factory because I sent it back there for the repair.

Describe a rule you dislike and would like to change in the future

OK, so, the rule I dislike and would like to change in the future would be called liujiayi, also known as 6+1, which is a kind of schedule/timetable in my school. What it's basically about is that all the students and teachers have to work from Monday to Saturday, and then have Sunday off. Honestly, I don't particularly love this rule.

Frankly speaking, I'm not 100% sure about why my school has such an arrangement, because I didn't ask, and they didn't tell, but I guess, one of the reasons could be that the school has high expectation on us, so the rule should make us absorb knowledge like sponge.

Speaking of why I don't like it, well, there are two main reasons. To begin with, it makes me absolutely exhausted because I don't have enough time to relax. Plus, it further makes terrible impact on my study progress and efficiency, which is a negative cycle. (that's it~! Please continue...)

By the way,

Plan A:

+who made the rule - NG

I've always been curious about who made the rule, but so far, I can't tell you that, since only few people in my school know it and I don't know who they're, however, it should be the members of the school board.

Plan B :

+where my school is - D5

I have one more reason. My school is located in the eastern suburb, and I live in the western suburb. So, it's quite far from my home, which takes me at least 1 hour to get there by bicycle. I have to say that the commute is incredibly time and energy consuming.

人 6/地 5/物 5/忘 4+时/空/逻辑

Ok, so , the favourite food at a traditional festival in my country would be zongzi, also known as sticky rice dumplings, which is famous traditional food in China. What it's basically made of is rice, leaves, and other ingredients such as egg yolk, dates, meat and so on. And we usually make and eat it for a popular traditional festival called Dragon Boat Festival.

Frankly speaking, I'm not 100% sure about when it comes, because it's never on the same date every year, I mean, the lunar calendar works differently from the western calendar. But, correct me if I'm wrong, it often comes in the second half of the May or the first half of June.

Speaking of how it's made, well, generally, there are three steps. First off, put some rice with some fillings on the leaves. Next, wrap the rice and the fillings with the leaves. Finally, put the wrapped dumplings in a pot to steam them or boil them for at least 2 hours.

(that's it! Please continue)
